

Announcing: LO's Got Talent/Student Artist's Spotlight,
Appearing weekly in the LO Review (beginning with the Feb. 4 issue)
Sponsored by Pacific West Bank
Produced by Daniel and Deborah Work of SmileyNote Studios, inc

Attention Educators and Art Professionals of Lake Oswego Students:

This new 14 week series is very similar to the high schools' Student Athlete Spotlight and the junior highs' Student All-Stars, also sponsored by Pacific West Bank seen in the Lake Oswego Review. Pacific West Bank is committed to their support of arts education. They would like to provide an opportunity for students who excel in the arts to receive community recognition for their achievements. The Lake Oswego Review also demonstrates great support for this program.

This new series will feature 3 students each week who have various artistic talents, dance, music, painting, etc. The students will be nominated by educators and professional artists from LOSD and the community. The eligibility requirements are simply that the students must live in or attend school in Lake Oswego, grades K-12.

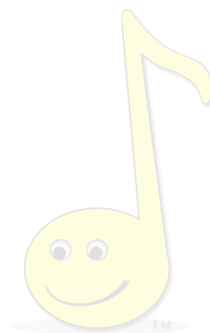

At the end of the school year all the students featured in the paper can appear at the LO's Got Talent Showcase Concert and Gallery. All ticket sales from this concert will go to the LOSD Foundation as a fundraiser.

If you know of an outstanding student who deserves recognition in the arts (dance, music, theatre, visual arts) please nominate that student by filling out the brief nomination form that follows. He/she will be considered for the Student Artist's Spotlight in the LO Review. Please submit all nomination forms to Daniel or Deborah Work (contact info below.) Three nominations will be featured each week in the paper. The LO Review has agreed to photograph each student (at no charge) who is chosen to appear in the Student Artist Spotlight.

If you have any questions, they should be directed to Daniel or Deborah Work. Please submit all nominations by mail, email, or call us if you need to make other arrangements to submit your nomination. Thank you for your support and participation. (There are no fees, expenses or commitments expected of the students.)
